What makes YMMSS cycle times go up and down?

And a recommended buying strategy

Why cycles get shorter

The length of the cycles is determined by the amount of funds available to pay the commissions due. (You'll notice there are two variables in that formula... 1, available funds and 2, commissions due.)

1, The daily income that goes into the Commissions Payable Account determines if the cycle (which is measured in days) goes up or down.

2, Some days or weeks we may have below average commissions due to be paid out, so the cycle time shrinks. If above average payouts are due, the cycle gets longer. Quite simple really.

THE KEY: When more money comes in than goes out, the cycle time shrinks. For example, from 79 days to 78 days, or even 77 days.

... and why they get longer

During a period when the payouts are above average, cycles will get longer... unless income has also been above average.

For example, say there is a big purchase day. Later, when it's time to pay the commissions for that big purchase day, the cycle will get longer. In fact, the commission payouts relating to that one big-income day may spread over several days.

Strategy

The best way to defend yourself against longer YMMSS cycles is to establish regular automated purchasing of EPCs on a daily, weekly or monthly basis. This can be done from inside the Members Login area of the YMMSS site.

You can buy at $10, $20, etc ... all the way up to $320 per position. Doing this will tend, over time, to even out the number of days in the cycles.
